Hinduism Today Perishes, to Reincarnate as a Worldclass Magazine

Beginning in November, Hinduism Today will be published in magazine format, with acres of graphics, nifty paper and more color pages than Manu's Dharma Shastras! Under a sprawling mango tree in Hawaii, news and editorial sections are being redesigned with more information and features to keep you and your family informed about the global Hindu renaissance--for the details, please see page two. This issue is August-September-October all in one, and yes, all subscriptions will be extended for two extra months!
